

Women Writing Life

This series of one-hour workshops is an exploration into issues that bind women together from relationships with our own bodies to relationships with our significant others. Some talking, some writing, some reading, emphasize the shared stories of the feminine experience.